

MyBank

Companion

Your friend in finance...

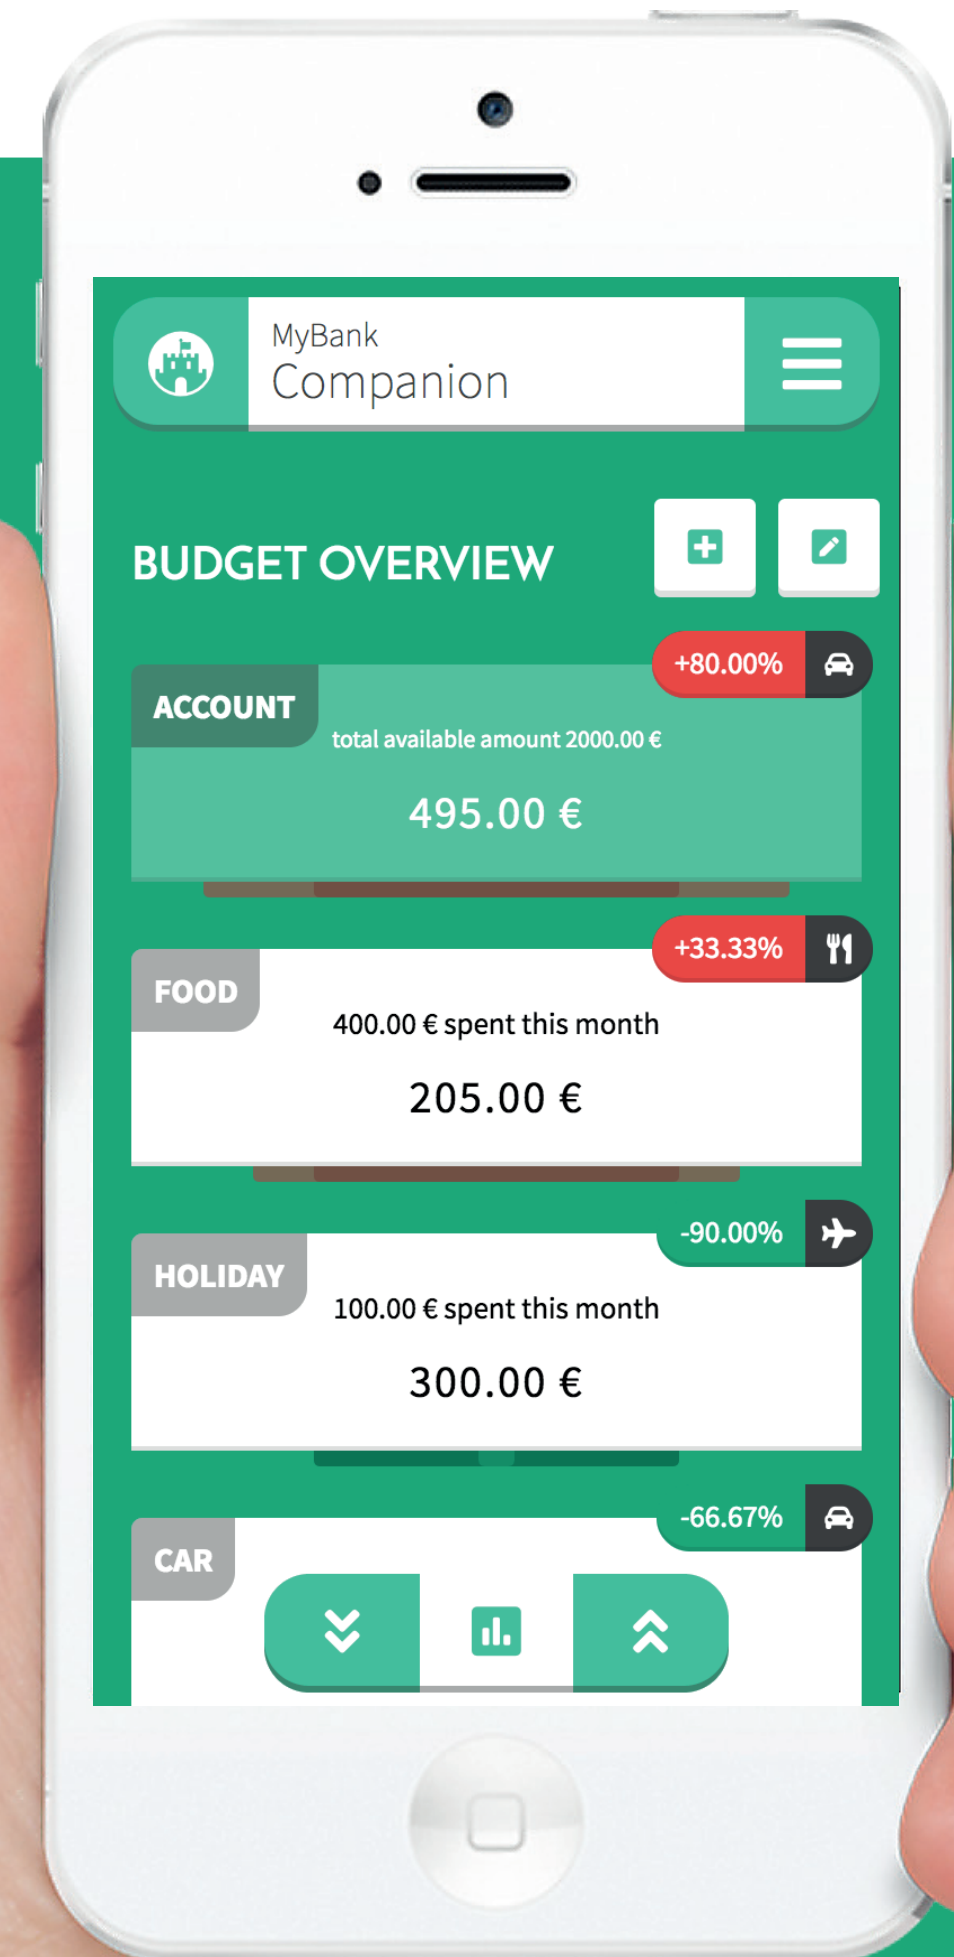

This mobile application helps you to reach your goals faster and to manage your resources in a more sustainable way:

- Split your bank accounts amounts into several (own or predefined) theme based virtual accounts to monitor each area of your life. [done]
- The application will try as best as possible to assign your transactions to the right virtual account by using a self learning index. This index is geared to your choices and to external data sources from local South Tyrolean providers. [done with Open Data Hub]

In real-life the application should compare the following things to identify the transactions:

- known IBANs (like already banks are doing)
- get external data from APIs and compare it with the transaction
- learn from the users assignments and use this data

Additional features:

- With „MoneySharing“ you can split up costs easily over you and your friends and easy transfer money to their accounts. Organized in groups you can communicate for eg. the monthly expenses for your shared flat. [done]

A implementation of the new API of the Berlin Group could be helpfull for the future of this feature.

- Use your smart phone camera or upload your invoices as PDF files and the application will fill out your transaction form faster than you could type. [not done]
